QSolv

We help you convert some of the fixed IT project costs into variable costs and maximize ROI.

We are an IT Services Company, helping organizations build and implement their IT plans. We combine our business and technology expertise to deploy robust solutions that meet the critical return on investment goals of our customers.

To alleviate the pains of our customers, we have set up a development center in India as a cost effective alternative to software development in the US.

We work with both Fortune 500 companies and emerging companies as a partner in execution of critical projects, We have helped staff projects for Cisco Systems, Nortel Networks, Sun Microsystems and have managed projects in the areas such as- Network Management, V&D integration, ATM software development and e-business applications for several SMEs and emerging companies.

Managed Projects

We combine management expertise with skills in technology development. Our Managed Projects services provide immense team scaling proposition and protect customers from fluctuations due to seasonality in business.

We leverage our technology and business skills, proven project methodologies and our rich experience in building software applications. These projects range from Internet applications to enterprise-wide solutions.

We offer flexible delivery models including on-site, off-site and off-shore development. We ensure complete transparency of the development according to a set of predefined objectives, milestones, QA & Testing, acceptance criteria and delivery.

Project Staffing

We deliver flexible Project Staffing solutions for your IT projects. Our project staffing services enable you to convert the fixed project cost of technical resources into a variable cost and thus protect you from the fluctuations in the requirement of technical resources.

Our professionals are highly skilled in their technology fields. These top-notch professionals have excellent academic backgrounds, extensive industry experience, proven expertise and ability to work in a team.
